KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Dave Roberts, LA Dodgers MLB Manager

David Ray Roberts is an American professional baseball manager and former outfielder who is the manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers of Major League Baseball (MLB). He played for five MLB teams over a ten-year career and then coached for the San Diego Padres before being named Dodgers manager in 2016. Roberts batted and threw left-handed.

The son of a Japanese mother and African American father, Roberts became the first manager of Asian heritage to lead a team to the World Series in 2017 when the Dodgers captured the National League pennant. He also led the Dodgers to the World Series in 2018 and 2020, winning in the latter year and again in 2024. Roberts is both the first manager of Asian heritage and the second African American manager to lead a team to a World Series title. His leadership was recognized when he was named NL Manager of the Year in his first season.

Although Roberts played for the Boston Red Sox for only part of one season, his most notable achievement as a player was "The Steal," a critical stolen base in the 9th inning of Game 4 of the 2004 American League Championship Series, which ignited the Red Sox's drive to their historic championship that year. This moment remains a significant highlight in his playing career.
